Centerstone Regional Intervention Program

(Serving children ages 1 to 5 and their families)

Parenting That Works!

Parenting preschoolers isn't always easy. When behavioral issues become serious or prolonged, Centerstone Early Childhood Services can help. The Regional Intervention Program (RIP) is a parent-implemented, professionally-supported program for young children and their families who are experiencing challenging behaviors. Since 1969 this unique, internationally-recognized program has guided parents in learning the skills to work with their own children while they receive training and support from experienced RIP families.

We can help with the following areas of challenging behavior:

- Tantrums, screaming
- Aggression, destructive behavior
- Hyperactivity, not paying attention
- Trouble with potty training
- Not following directions, stubbornness
- Withdrawn behavior
- Bedtime or sleeping problems

Our Services

Centerstone's RIP is designed to meet the specific needs of each family we serve. Families practice learned skills through sessions in our office then apply them at home, school and other community settings. These services are available in Maury and Montgomery Counties.

Family services include:

- Training in positive behavior management skills through parent and child sessions
- Specialized classrooms where children learn social skills needed for successful school adjustment, peer interaction and performance
- Consultation with the child's teachers to assist with positive behavior changes
- Individualized behavior plans that promote success in community settings

Caring for people at every stage of life, Centerstone offers comprehensive, high-quality services for all ages. Our experts help develop a custom-fit approach for everyone we serve.

Services are provided free of charge. Call us to learn more. This project is funded by the Tennessee Department of Mental Health and Substance Abuse Services.
