Housing and Residential Services

Rent-Assisted Apartments and Supportive Living

Centerstone offers more than 60 units of permanent housing for adults with serious mental health conditions. Rents are assisted by the US Department of Housing and Urban Development, and each resident pays no more than one-third of their income as rent. Due to the high demand for such housing, each program has a waiting list. To qualify for permanent housing, applicants must agree to provide evidence of their disability, income, criminal, financial and housing history. The programs have specialized preferences for adults with serious mental illness and for adults who are homeless.

Hempel House, Community Court, Yakubian and Amy's Crossing Apartments offer one bedroom, one-bath apartments for single adults (no children or spouses) with serious mental health conditions. These four properties are located in Alton. Theodoro Place, located in East Alton, is a 12-unit supportive housing program for adults who are homeless and have a serious mental health condition. Evidence of homeless status will be required.
