Centerstone far exceeds what other organizations do. This is the best provider I have seen in 18+ years of counseling. Thank you for providing this service. I have learned so much, the process was seamless, and I am grateful for the visits that were provided to me free of charge.

Chief Executive Officer,
Centerstone's Military Services

"In our efforts to support military service members, veterans, and their families, Centerstone's Military Services has seen significant improvements in patient outcomes and access to care by reducing patient wait times for appointments. In the past year, we have continued to strengthen partnerships with military-related organizations to provide resources and treatment through a nationwide network of providers. And we will continue our work to reduce the stigma around mental health treatment for those who have bravely served."
